

Top 10 Overhauls You've Been Avoiding

(or: Why a CFO Should Never Be Allowed Near Your Baseball Card Collection)

10. The stack of papers on your desk that is eating the smaller stack of papers next to it
9. Your To Do list...the one in your phone, the one in your on-screen task list, your inbox, the sprinkling of Post-Its next to your mouse, and all of those tabs in your browser
8. That stuff you've been saving on the justification that it will be worth something someday. eBay just called. Happy Someday.
7. The car. 'Nuff said.
6. That ~~rat's nest~~ ~~fire trap~~ executive sculpture called "computer cables."
5. The 700 "easy-reach" spreadsheets and documents peppering your desktop.
4. Your financial statements, which you have replaced entirely with your finely-honed instinct.
3. password123
2. The pile of business cards still waiting for entry into your CRM system like they're on line at a Disney World ride
1. Your DIY vs. Hire Out list, which is missing the "D" in "DIY"
